Letter from Lord Stirling

Stirs Inn 4 May 1777

Dear Sir

It is a reasonable excuse to say the post is waiting & a friend to read & hear to me as you are, but it is no actually the case.

It is said (and if the Enemy does not go from Newport by the first of June it will be certain) that Genl Burgoyne with 10000 new raised Germans and 3000 British is to attack Boston, then Philadelphia, then Albany & come down Hudsons River & come with united strength to true — I do Should be I shall rely upon you to act with my Brother to take care of my little interest

I am Dear Mal

Your affectionate Husband

Yours &c. the relation of the Battery expedition in the papers letter Shall I confine it to you — & the first mentioned affair to you.
Place you will get your Sword mended
